Janet A. Norris
What Is Language?	6
Theories of Language	7
Language in Context	18
Connectionism	24
Event Representations	26
Concluding Remarks	27
2 Concepts in Neurolinguistics and Information Processing	29
William O. Haynes
Structural Aspects of Developmental Neurolinguistics	31
Functional Aspects of Neurolinguistics	37
Variables Affecting Hemispheric Processing of Information	43
The Hemispheres as Processors	47
Other Important Information-Processing Capacities in Communication Development	48
Neurolinguistic Clinical Applications	50
Concluding Remarks	53
3 Theories of Communication Development	55
Brian B. Shulman
The Behavioral Perspective	55
The Psycholinguistic-Syntactic Perspective	57
The Semantic-Cognitive Perspective	59
The Social-Pragmatic Perspective	60
Concluding Remarks	62

4	Child Development	63
	Brian B. Shulman
	Cognitive Development	64
	Motor Development	66
	Social Development	68
	Language and Communication Development	71
	Clinical Applications	74
	Concluding Remarks	81
5	Caretaker-Child Interaction	82
	William O. Haynes
	Overview of the Research on Caretaker-Child Interaction	83
	Caretaker Contributions to Development of Communicative Foundations	84
	Caretaker Contributions to Developing Language Form and Use	92
	Research on Mothers and Fathers During Interactions with Children	97
	Communication Models in Day-Care Settings	101
	The Use of Specific "Teaching Strategies" by Caretakers	101
	Research on the Long-Term Effects of Early Interactions	104
	Beyond Dyadic Interaction: A Real-World View	105
	Estimating the Actual Contribution of Caretaker Models on Communication Development	106
	Applications to the Language-Impaired Child	108
	Concluding Remarks	113
6	Cognition	114
	Cliff L. Highnam
	Faculty Psychologies	114
	Cognitive Determinism	121
	Interactionism	130
	Concluding Remarks	134
7	The Development of Play	135
	Janet L. Patterson and Carol E. Westby
	Play: Theories and Definitions	136
	The Roles of Play in Development	138
	Types of Play	139
	Social Structure of Play	141
	Symbolic Play Development	142
	Variation in Play Development	149
	Play Assessment	157
	Play and Intervention	158
	Concluding Remarks	161

PART II ■ Processes and Applications of Communication Development

163

PRELINGUISTIC COMMUNICATION

- 8 Cognitive Aspects of Communication Development 165
Cliff L. Highnam

Language Faculties	165
Cognition Hypothesis	175
Language Influencing Thought	183
Interactionism	190

Stage IV: Creating Possibilities Through Words at Three	315
Stage V: Expressing Complex Ideas Grammatically at Three and a Half	322
Above Stage V: Using Language to Create Context	328
Assessing Grammatical Development	337
Concluding Remarks	340

ADVANCED COMMUNICATION DEVELOPMENT

14 Communication Refinement in School Age and Adolescence		341
Carol E. Westby
Extending Language Functions for Thought	341
Oral Interactive Discourse	347
Language for Literacy	353
Characteristics of Language Learning-Disabled Students	369
Assessment Strategies	372
Concluding Remarks	383

PART III ■ Variability and Individual Differences in Communication Development

15 Ethnic and Cultural Differences in Communication Development		385
William O. Haynes and Brian B. Shulman
Implications of Bilingual and Bidialectal Environments for Communication Development	389

African-American and Hispanic Cultures as Examples of Bilingual and Bidialectal Communication Development	391
Communication Development in African-American Children:
Preliminary Data	391
Communication Development in Hispanic Children:
Preliminary Data	401
Clinical Applications	409
Concluding Remarks	410
16 Individual Differences in the Acquisition of Communication and Directions for Future Research	412
William O. Haynes
Individual Differences	413
Individual Differences in the Language-Impaired Child	424
Directions for Future Research	428
Concluding Remarks	432
References	433
Author Index	485
Subject Index	501
